Play-Based Learning is:

- The learning that naturally occurs when children play.
- How children learn best.
- How children gain greater social, emotional and academic success.
- A means to early learning that capitalizes on children's natural curiosity.
- Busy children interacting with adults who respond to their individual needs and interests.
- Active involvement of children with people, materials, events and ideas.
- The best way to promote all aspects of children's development and learning.
- Children exploring, creating, inquiring, discovering, manipulating and improvising through hands-on activities that engage all their senses.
- Necessary for developing a positive attitude towards life-long learning.

PLAY!

What every child needs

Learning through play!

Play is not only our creative drive; it's a fundamental mode of learning. - David Elkind

Play expands intelligence, stimulates the imagination, encourages creative problem solving, and helps develop confidence, self-esteem, and a positive attitude toward learning. - Dr. Fraser Mustard

For children, play is serious learning. Play is really the work of childhood. - Fred Rogers
